The Pines at Willingway, a program for adolescents ages 14-18, offers a comprehensive treatment plan that encompasses detoxification, residential treatment, and partial hospitalization services for adolescents dealing with a substance use problem. Based on the time-proven philosophies of traditional 12-Step programs, our approach to addiction recovery provides adolescents with a robust framework to achieve sobriety that will continue as long-term recovery after discharge.

About The Pines

Adolescent program for ages 14-18

We know that finding effective and safe addiction treatment for a teenager can be a frustrating task during a time of high stress and anxiety. In many cases, trust among family members has been broken, and the client may have gotten in trouble in school or with law enforcement. Family members are desperate to provide their child with the help he or she needs to get healthy and get back on track.

At The Pines, we understand. We are part of a network of addiction treatment centers across the country and have access to some of the top experts in the field of substance use.

Our core philosophy is based on the following beliefs: addiction is a complex disease that is a combination of biological, psychological, social, and spiritual factors; effective treatment of addiction requires that all of these life areas be addressed with a wide variety of therapeutic techniques and identification of individual relapse risk factors.

Our private campus, for teens ages 14-18, includes walking trails and a small pond, and we provide therapeutic activities designed specifically for adolescents. The Pines also has an indoor pool where clients will be allowed to swim daily.

Detox

Our first goal is to help the client through a safe medical detoxification that is monitored 24 hours per day by trained professionals. Our staff uses appropriate medications to ease any discomfort that occurs during this process

Residential Treatment

Upon completion of detox, clients will be transitioned to the residential treatment level of care with a more intensive focus on their individual treatment needs.

Education

Since this is an adolescent program, clients will be expected to stay up-to-date on their classwork during their stay at The Pines. They will remain enrolled in their home school, and work will be provided and completed on-site. This may include medical homebound, tutoring, or online classes.

Follow-up Care

Following successful completion of the residential program, clients will begin using TRAC9, a secure web app that uses a series of standardized assessments to identify changes in depression, anxiety, stress, visual response to cravings, verbal response to cravings, spirituality, commitment to sobriety, optimism, and quality of life. We'll also provide an aftercare support program, MAPP, for 90 days after discharge.

We're available for admissions and assessments
24 hours a day, 7 days per week.
