OUR APPROACH

At Newport Academy, we address the root causes of self-destructive behaviors, not just the symptoms. We guide teens and families to achieve sustainable healing, by treating the underlying issues that catalyze depression, anxiety, substance abuse, eating disorders, and other mental health challenges. Incorporating clinical, therapeutic, and experiential modalities, our comprehensive approach is family focused and results oriented. From a foundation of compassion and love, we support young people in building the self-understanding, connection, self-esteem, and life skills that allow them to find their place in the world.
