Little-Known Secrets of Paying for College

Welcome to The College Funding Coach®

The College Funding Coach® was founded in 2002 with one goal in mind: to teach parents how to pay for college without sacrificing their own retirement. Today, our free, educational workshop “Little-Known Secrets of Paying for College” is taught by trained and certified College Funding Coaches across the country at hundreds of schools, businesses, and community organizations as well as virtually. College is getting more and more expensive every year, and unless a family develops an informed strategy early—whether that is optimizing eligibility for need-based aid or maximizing liquidity and cash flow—it can be difficult to pay for college and still retire one day.

Our workshop is a great complement to the insights many schools provide on college selection and the financial aid process. Our live workshop or webinars empower parents with information to create efficient and effective strategies not only for paying for their children’s college education; but just as importantly, doing so and still being able to retire at the time and in the lifestyle for which they have prepared.

Why Attend a Workshop?

At our educational workshop, “Little-Known Secrets of Paying” for College you will learn:

- Effective ways to simultaneously save AND pay for college.
- Strategies to pay for multiple children attending college at the same time.
- Resources for optimizing scholarships and student loans.
- What to do if you don’t qualify for need-based aid.
- How to avoid jeopardizing your retirement nest egg
- And much, much more!
