Monday Keynote Session Speaker

It Never Fails

Matthew Berry

ABOUT THIS SESSION: A planned lunch. An organized small group. A Friday afternoon. What do these things have in common? It's that sometimes It Never Fails that our best-laid plans lead to an unexpected next crisis. It's just part of being a school counselor. But what about all those things you do that "never fail" to lead to success? Listen as Matt shares how collaborative relationships, advocacy and well articulated goals lead to purpose and program success.

After attending this session, you will be able to:

- Identify and utilize the Five Never Fails in school counseling.
- Learn how to accept challenges by considering them learning opportunities.
- Identify your boundaries and embed your own self-care strategies.

SPEAKER BIO: Matthew Berry is the Coordinator of K-12 Counseling for the second largest school district in Missouri. He is dedicated to ensuring that all students have access to learning that enhances their academic and social emotional needs. He is often sought to speak to students, educators, and leaders on a variety of topics.

Matthew will also be presenting a breakout session.

Monday, November 18 | 8:30 a.m. - 9:30 a.m.

Tuesday Keynote Session Speaker

This Is America: Counseling in Today's Social and Cultural Reality

Diana Virgil

ABOUT THIS SESSION: Today's students are growing up in a world shaped by rapid social change, cultural tension, and complex identity experiences. In this keynote, Dr. Diana Virgil explores how school counselors can serve as stabilizing, culturally responsive leaders who support students through the emotional, academic, and societal realities they face. With empathy, awareness, and advocacy, counselors can help students make sense of the world around them—while building one that is safer, more inclusive, and affirming.

After attending this session, you will be able to:

- Recognize how current events and systemic issues impact student mental health and identity
- Respond to student needs using inclusive, trauma-informed, and culturally responsive practices
- Empower students to process their experiences and develop resilience in today's world

SPEAKER BIO: Diana Virgil, Ph.D., ACSC, of Alabama's Daleville High School. Virgil has been a school counselor since 2015 and works on a campus that serves 346 students in grades 9–12. She is the 17th person to receive the national recognition and the first from Alabama. Virgil received her bachelor's, master's and educational specialist degrees from Mississippi College and a doctorate degree from University of the Cumberlands. She is an ASCA-Certified School Counselor, a National Certified School Counselor and a National Certified Counselor.

Many Daleville High School students are trailblazers in their families, aiming to be the first to graduate from high school. When Virgil was hired, she noticed a significant number of students weren't participating in dual-enrollment classes due to a lack of awareness, limited college aspirations, transportation challenges and financial constraints. Virgil promptly established a partnership with the local community college to boost student enrollment. A significant turning point came when the college received a grant to provide eligible students with free tuition and books for dual enrollment, revolutionizing the opportunities for students to earn both high school and college credit. To address transportation challenges, Virgil worked with the college to implement online courses and enlisted teachers to teach dual enrollment courses at the high school. Her approaches increased the number of students in dual-enrollment courses from four to more than 40 each semester. This year, the school is on the cusp of graduating its first student with a high school diploma and an associate degree in science, along with its first student with a mechatronics certification from the aviation college. As a result of Virgil's extensive collaboration and advocacy efforts, Daleville High School now offers dual-enrollment courses in science, English and math. For Virgil, the most rewarding part of her work as a school counselor is the opportunity to be a support system for her students.

Diana will also be presenting a breakout session.
