SCAN TO LEARN WHAT OUR CADETS HAVE TO SAY

What makes every cadet a scholar? Our rigorous curriculum includes a robust core of interdisciplinary classes and offers the opportunity for in-depth study in one of more than 35 majors. You'll be taught by our world-class faculty while participating in cutting edge research alongside the nation's best young people.

Why is every cadet an athlete? At West Point, physical fitness is a core part of the experience, helping you grow into a strong and capable leader. Whether you join varsity, club, or intramural sports, you'll develop the strength, endurance, and teamwork skills that are essential for success in the military—and beyond.

What's the military training like? Your education includes a year-round blend of classroom instruction and hands-on military exercises beginning with basic skills like rifle marksmanship and then progressing through tactical leadership training. As a graduate, you'll be a fully prepared commissioned officer in the U.S. Army.

What are cadet clubs like? Our clubs offer a broad variety of activities to enhance your experience by developing leadership skills outside the classroom and military training. From academic and sports clubs to service and hobby groups, you'll find opportunities to pursue your passions, make connections, and gain valuable experience for personal growth.
